RECLAIMING DISCIPLESHIP

ALBRIGHT-DEERING LECTURE AND CONFERENCE 2024

Feb. 23, 2024, 9:30 a.m.-4:00 p.m. ET

In-person and Online

Presenters: Frederick Edie and Reginald Blount

Location: Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, 616 N. Highland Ave., Pittsburgh, PA 15206

OVERVIEW

The Albright-Deering lecture and conference at Pittsburgh Theological Seminary is sure to energize your imagination around youth and young adults in our congregations, communities, and neighborhoods. For more than 25 years the Rev. Dr. Frederick Edie and the Rev. Dr. Reginald Blount have been thinking together about faith formation of young people. Their respective areas of expertise will come together in this day-long event to consider how to reclaim a sense of discipleship in our faith traditions. Edie will work with us to consider how to bring young people to the heart of the congregation through corporate worship. Blount will then take us from corporate worship into the world asking, who are we sending our congregations (and young people) forth to be in the world? This interactive day will be full of practical application, conversation, and lecture to stimulate our collective imagination.

A complimentary lunch will be provided by reservation only.

Reservations for the complimentary lunch are now closed.

If you will attend in person and have not registered yet, please be sure to make your own lunch arrangements in advance.

Registration for the lecture is now open!
