FAITH FORMING FAMILIES NETWORK MENU

Meet the F3 Team

Lynne M. Napoleon Bassett as the inaugural director of the Faith Forming Families Network. “I am honored to be the first director of the F3 Network. Having the opportunity to use my education and experience in convening community groups and collaborating on family-centered, community-based solutions to support the spiritual and moral development of children is a calling very close to my heart. After years of working with families and community partners involved in the child welfare, juvenile justice, and mental health systems, I am excited to work in the spirit of the Rev. Fred Rogers, to ‘build a neighborhood’ around parents, caregivers, and children. In today’s complicated world, this is important and meaningful work,” said Bassett. She is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh (M.S., applied development psychology) and Indiana University of Pennsylvania (B.A., psychology).

Lily Schatz is a research assistant at the F3 Network. As part of that role she is currently researching the moral and spiritual development of children. Lily also serves as the training coordinator at the Pittsburgh Toy Lending Library. She previously worked for a Seattle-based technology startup, teaching customers how to use and derive the greatest value from the company’s software. In her free time she enjoys reading, baking bread, gardening, and spending time with her family.

Clarence Wright is the first Fred Rogers Fellow in Theology and Ministry in the F3 Network. The fellow serves a two-semester, postdoctoral appointment pursuing research within the Fred Rogers Archive at Saint Vincent College and teaching at Pittsburgh Theological Seminary. The fellowship honors the ministry and legacy of “Mister” Fred Rogers, who graduated in 1962 from the Seminary and whose work is recognized at the Institute. Dr. Wright’s research entails a close study of Mister Rogers’ “neighborhood ethic of care” and identification of ways to apply the theology undergirding this ethic for 21st century children, especially in urban environments. This will include engaging contemporary media, as Fred Rogers did in the early days of television, developing policy recommendations to address the unique needs of digital-native children, and later publication of notable findings.
