JULY 22-27, 2024 PRESBYTERIAN COLLEGE, CLINTON, S.C.

Join us for an enriching five-day gathering at Presbyterian College, Clinton, S.C., where rising high school juniors and seniors will come together to explore their callings and gifts for leadership in the church.

Co-hosted by the Miller Summer Youth Institute at Pittsburgh Theological Seminary and the Office of Spiritual Life at Presbyterian College, this unique event offers students the chance to learn from experienced faculty and staff from both institutions, to delve into vocational discernment activities, and to engage in guided theological reflection. This gathering promises to be a transformative experience for those seeking to explore their callings and who want to learn more about what the path to leadership in the church might look like!

Students can expect to engage in group discernment activities, enjoy downtime on the Presbyterian College campus and in the City of Greenville, and participate in worship. Room and board will be provided on the PC campus.

FAQS

Is room and board covered by the registration fee?

Yes, room and board will be provided on the PC campus. One outing in the City of Greenville is planned that will require a meal on your own.

How many participants can we expect?

We are seeking 20 young adults who are deeply committed to the life of their congregations and who are interested in networking with peers who share similar commitments.

What if I am unsure about my future college plans?

This event will focus on young adult discernment within a network of peers and mentors, so we welcome anyone who is willing to more deeply explore their future vocation and the path(s) they might take to get there.

What other activities can I expect?

You can expect to meet with experienced admissions and financial aid staff, engage in group discernment activities, enjoy downtime on the Presbyterian College campus and in the City of Greenville, and participate in worship led by PC and PTS staff.
